LOURDES

Drive away the foxes for us
For our vineyard is now in flower
While we make a bunch of roses . . .
Stay thee, dead northwind.
Come southwind that awakenest love;
Breathes through my garden and lets its odors flow . . .
While mid the flowers and rose tree
The ambar sends forth perfume.

—SAINT JOHN OF THE CROSS

May blind spirits . . . be illumined by the light of truth and justice, so that those who have gone astray into error may be brought back to the straight path, that a just liberty may be granted everywhere and that an era of peace and true prosperity may come upon all the nations.

Kindly come . . .

One hundred years ago in a little hamlet in the Pyrenees the Queen of Heaven manifested herself to a peasant girl. "She came to Bernadette to restore the world in Christ through a new and incomparable effusion of the redemption," our Holy Father, Pius XII, said at Lourdes, April 1935. The message was nothing new. Our Lady had made the appeal many times before: "Return to God."

In this centenary year the Blessed Virgin again gives us a delicate invitation to drink at the miraculous spring of grace which flows forever from the foot of Massabielle. It is an invitation to a conversion of heart, to a new strength in Christ that will help us fight off the "little foxes" of materialism, selfishness, and a lack of interest in our brother.

A limb for a limb

In May, 1939, the residence of William H. Luden became Central Catholic High, chiefly through the efforts of Father William Hammeke, rector of St. Paul Parish. Recognizing the possibilities of the "Bon Air" estate as a school for all the Catholic students of Reading, he purchased the mansion in October, 1939.

In the second year of the school's history, the size of the student body had more than tripled, soaring from seventy-five to two hundred forty-seven. Accordingly plans were formulated for an annex between the main building and the garage, which had been converted into a chemical and biological laboratory in 1940.

The 1941 annex included a combination auditorium-gymnasium, locker rooms, showers, cafeteria, eight classrooms, and library. A second section was added to connect the mansion with the new building in 1945. In 1954, three classrooms were erected at the east end of the school, connecting the laboratory with the rest of the school.

At this printing, a new two-story faculty home, to cost approximately $150,000, is being erected at Clymer Street and Eckert Avenue to house the Sisters of Christian Charity. The convent will contain twenty-two private rooms for the Sisters. The building, ninety-five feet by thirty-two feet, will also have a chapel, community room, kitchen, dining room, service rooms, laundry, and bathrooms.

The date for completion is October 1 when the Sisters' rooms on the third floor of the high school will be converted into four classrooms to take care of additional enrollment.

His Excellency
The Most Reverend

John F. O'Hara, C.S.C., D.D.

Archbishop of Philadelphia

Hundreds of thousands of Catholic High School graduates in the Archdiocese of Philadelphia gaze proudly upon the cultural surroundings in which they were educated. This system of schools, second to none, is the happy result of the interest and support of the Archbishops of Philadelphia.

His Excellency, the Most Reverend John Francis O'Hara, C.S.C., D.D., present Archbishop, is personally responsible for the recent rapid expansion and development of elementary and secondary education. His impressive building program is evidence of a remarkable confidence in God and a deep fatherly solicitude for his teen-age flock.

In this centenary year of Lourdes, we note that Our Blessed Lady is the Patron of the Archdiocese, and that, on May 23, 1952, the Archdiocese of Philadelphia was solemnly consecrated to the Immaculate Heart of Mary at the shrine of Our Lady of Fatima, Portugal. Further—the Archbishop bears on his coat of arms a silver star set against a blue pennant. The silver star, Her symbol; blue, Her favorite color.

MONSIGNOR EDWARD M. REILLY,

J.C.D., LL.D.

The Right Reverend Monsignor Edward M. Reilly, a native of Pottsville, Pennsylvania, assumes the responsibility for the complete educational system of the archdiocese.

Following his ordination in 1936, he attended the Catholic University of America in Washington, D.C., for graduate work. In 1945, Monsignor Reilly was confronted with the duties of the Diocesan Superintendent of schools. Since that time he has proved himself a worthy successor to a line of expert archdiocesan administrators whose broad vision and attention to detail have made the Philadelphia schools the best in the world.

Monsignor's tremendous interest in Catholic education, together with his gracious personality, has won for him the respect and admiration of administrators and students alike.

It is fitting that we have memorial days for those who died to preserve freedom from the oppression of men. It is expedient that there be a memorial for the supreme sacrifice of Christ Who died to give us freedom from the tyranny of sin. This we have in the Holy Sacrifice of the Mass.

Twenty-five years ago Father Huesman, Pastor of St. Paul Parish and Director of Central Catholic High School, felt the firm anointing thumb that sealed his hands with the power to reenact the Drama of the Redemption.

Hearty congratulations, happy Silver Jubiliarian! May your loving service rise like clouds of fragrant incense to delight the Heart of God.

Reverend Raymond J. Leichner

"The Lord made to him a covenant of peace that the dignity of priesthood should be to him forever." Our heartfelt congratulations to Father Leichner who is celebrating the fifteenth anniversary of his ordination to the priesthood. This month of May brings happy memories of his consecration by His Eminence Dennis Cardinal Dougherty in SS. Peter and Paul Cathedral, Philadelphia.

During the past five years we have observed the dynamic energy our beloved principal exerts at his administrative duties and the deep interest he shows in the spiritual health of the students. This zealous bustling, we know, comes from an awareness of his God-given vocation and a realization that no time may be lost in bringing to Central Catholic the peace that results from a union of heaven and earth.

does one feel so moved to prayer

Throngs of elated students rushed through Central's portals, on the brink of an eleven day vacation extending through Easter Week. For the faculty the free days promised an enlightening, but hardly a vivacious interlude. The Central faculty members were among 12,000 Catholic educators who met in Philadelphia, for the N.C.E.A. convention, April 8-11. The theme of the meeting was "The Right to Educate—The Role of Parents, Church, and State."

to the forgetting of oneself

Seven new religious members met our record breaking enrollment last September. Two Benedictine priests, Father Andrew and Father Jerome, instructors in Religion, are also co-workers at the Tunnel Gift Shop.

We claimed Sister M. Carletta, S.C.C., too, from St. Nicholas High School, Wilkes-Barre; Sister M. Angelita, S.C.C., who returned after an absence of ten years; Sister M. Edmundine, C.S.B., whose former residence was Little Flower High School, Philadelphia; Sister John Catharine, O.S.F., from Allentown Central Catholic; and Sister M. Davidica, O.S.F., from Little Flower High School, Philadelphia.

The preprofessional class welcomed Dr. Sylvio Barra as new instructor while Dr. Edward Stoebenau, Jr., succeeded his father as school dentist. Jane Schmieder, '57 graduate, took Barbara Wisniewski's place as Father Fricker's secretary. Both Mr. Gerald Faller and family and Miss Virginia Illuzzi took advantage of the extended Easter vacation to bask in the Florida sun. Three times Dr. Lucille Tucker Greene appeared on the scene to administer much-needed germ-killing vaccine to reluctant but grateful Centralites.

Our vineyard is now in flower

This summit all so steeply towers
And is of excellence so high
No human faculties or powers
Can ever to the top come nigh.
—ST. JOHN OF THE CROSS

Enthusiasm rooted in prayer pushed its tendrils into our lives and bore rich clusters of grapes, making us dizzy with the harvest. For those upon whom Divine Providence lavished special talent, there were challenges in every field—journalism, speech, music, art, science, leadership. Dry-twigged principles, thrust into fertile minds in class, blossomed on contact with local and national competition.

Love of Mary poured the new wine of courage into private study and public demonstration. Confidence, born of Mass and the Sacraments, acquired a dignity with which we, as articulate Catholic leaders, can boost a world, yearning for the liberty that we enjoy, to the lofty summits where we have found the growing best.

It's This Way, Officer . . .

Installation Day, October 10, opened the door for another year of planning and figuring. The student council, under the leadership of President Thomas Twardowski, took on the customary duties of directing corridor traffic and arranging skating parties, doggie roasts, and dances.

Sunday, November 24, was a red letter day for twenty-six members of Central's student association. The group represented Central at a gathering of 16,000 youths who attended the Pontifical Mass, which marked the climax of the sixth National Conference of Catholic Youth Week. The celebration took place in Convention Hall in Philadelphia, and all received Holy Communion.

This year Central has been duly accredited with a certificate of membership to the National Association of Student Councils of the National Association of Secondary-School Principals. The association will send the school a copy of the 1958 "Student Council Yearbook," a copy of their newest publication "N. A. S. C. Highlights," four times yearly, and two copies per month of Student Life, a thirty-two page illustrated magazine containing numerous articles of interest in all phases of school activities.

The '58 Centralma staff, enthusiastic over the news that Centralma '56 had won the Medalist and All Catholic awards, started to take pictures and to sketch the dummy of the '58 book in May of '57. On photography day, October 29, two photographers speeded the picture taking, and all Centralites were glad when they were dismissed an hour early.

Our trip to Villanova on October 12 for the annual meeting of high school journalists held an extra attraction when we met Notre Dame's "Fighting Irish" squad outside the chapel. Also, Terry gave a talk on "Time and Half Time."

Our editor received an appointment to the chairmanship of the yearbook section of the Columbia Press Conference in Philadelphia on February 8, but we were snowed in, and couldn't travel. However, the advisers of the yearbook and newspaper traveled to New York for the National Press Conference held March 13, 14 and 15 at Columbia University.

At a party on February 11, our staff entertained the staffs of Hillside Echoes and Sharps and Flats, the stars of "Annie Get Your Gun", and also Central's Be-teenas.

Hillside Echoes, with Sister Alethia as new adviser, ran their usual rugged course to success. During the year, the paper received various awards: a first place award from the Pennsylvania School Press Association, two first class honor ratings from the National Scholastic Press Association, and an International first place award from Quill and Scroll.

On October 12, the staff members attended a press conference at Villanova. Margaret Martin, co-editor of Hillside Echoes, spoke on the topic "Justified Pride."

Dr. Regis L. Boyle, teacher of English and Journalism at Woodrow Wilson High School, Washington, D. C., and head of the Journalism department at Catholic University, accepted an invitation to give an informative talk at our fifth annual Publications Conference on March 22. But a 21-inch snowfall barricaded the journalists and the affair, to the chagrin of all, was cancelled.

The February literary edition this year honored Our Lady of Lourdes in picture and story. The staff awarded two pins; one to Joan Zack for her poem "Pedro", and another to K. Martin for "Eye Witness", a prose selection.

On May 8 the Quill and Scroll Honorary Society accepted 16 journalists for membership; 10 from Centralma and 6 from Hillside Echoes. Members are in the upper third of their class and have received an "excellent" rating in at least one field of journalism.

The purpose of Quill and Scroll is to instill in students the ideal of scholarship, to advance the standards of journalism, and to promote exact and dispassionate thinking, clear and forceful writing.

The first league tournament at Atlantic City on November 8 and 9 marked Central's achievement of 28 A ratings out of a possible 30. Seniors John Christel, Tom Twardowski, Margaret Martin, and Maureen Finan participated.

The Forensic Union acted as host for an Extemporaneous Contest on November 23. Under Father Schulte's tutoring, the Hill Road orators nabbed the highest rating of the 21 schools in competition.

Peter Fox and Tom Twardowski placed first and second respectively in the annual Monsignor Wachter tournament on March 8.

On March 30, orators from all over southeastern Pennsylvania vied with each other at the elimination contest which decided the speakers who would represent the Archdiocese of Philadelphia in the National Catholic Forensic League Finals held at Chicago, May 15 to 17. Centralites literally "ran away" with honors, capturing five first places and qualifying eleven students in all.

To the staff, the hours spent in this room are golden hours of fun and laughter.

Band members exit in snappy fashion.

Adding merriment to every scholastic event, the school band provides talented Centralites with an excellent outlet for excess energy. These students have shown their musical versatility and group dependability at pep rallies, football games, and parades throughout the year.

While the echoes of the football band were still pounding in the ears of the student body, Centralites saw the formation of the Solidaires. This new group added its sweet and slick tones to assemblies and brightened public affairs with its music.

Not only are these musicians the heart and life of every pep rally and student gathering, but they have added their vim and verve to the annual Christmas and Holy Name parades as well.

Permeated with the Catholic philosophy of life, the educational program afforded many spiritual experiences that polished our armor for battle against the materialistic forces that overrun our little world.

In response to a "Carry Your Rosary Always" campaign, (in honor of the Centennial of the Apparition at Lourdes) one senior, one junior, four sophomore, and one freshman homeroom reached their goal—100%.

Catholic Book Week brought a questionnaire on the lives of the saints. The contest was school wide; Centralites cheered from their classrooms when grand champion Judy Zitter walked away with the first prize.

Weekly Mass and Holy Communion inaugurated in spring of last year continued to bear fruit. Hundreds of students availed themselves of the opportunity to receive the Sacraments each Wednesday. Girls purchased new white veils as a more fitting head covering for "church" services.

Here, There, and Everywhere

With the ordination of the Monsignor Wachter Chapter, he National Honor Society has been incorporated into the ctivities program at Central. This growing national society trives toward the general betterment of high school ratings.

Induction of members into Central's chapter is based upon cholarship, leadership, and character. Those eligible for nembership must have completed a full semester at Central nd must have maintained a scholastic average of 85 per cent.

With these characteristics as a basis for voting, the faculty uggested names of most deserving students. Executing the inal draft of eligible candidates was a Chapter Council composed of the school principal and the Student Association ponsor. If at any time requirements are not maintained, nembership may be suspended.

This year's pledgers include 21 active members and 20 graduate members who received a Society emblem, membership card, and diploma seal as recognition. Officers will be elected in the latter part of May.

First prize winner in the Catholic Book Week Contest, J. Zitter receives Albert Nevin's Maryknoll Golden Book from Sister M. Rosanna. Other finalists were A. Santilli, H. Chomyn, L. Auchter, F. Ruch, V. Martin, and M. DiCintio.

While we make a bunch of roses

I cast off my costly garments
Donned the working clothes you see
And the harp that was my music
Hung upon a willow tree.
—ST. JOHN OF THE CROSS

Culling roses was a duty where love and suffering met. In the race to master a literary style with which to master the cold facts of scientific investigation, to become "idea men" rather than "gadget men," to secure an education comparable to the "European culture," we fingered the velvety texture of the flower, success.

Thorns of application, silence and attention pricked; perseverance prolonged the pain. Thus faithful seeking after learning and scholarship drew intellectual blood. Yet we gathered the crimson beauties, briars and all, and offered them to her who, standing upon a wild rose bush in Lourdes, promised to convert our enemies if we would but brave the prunings of sacrifice.

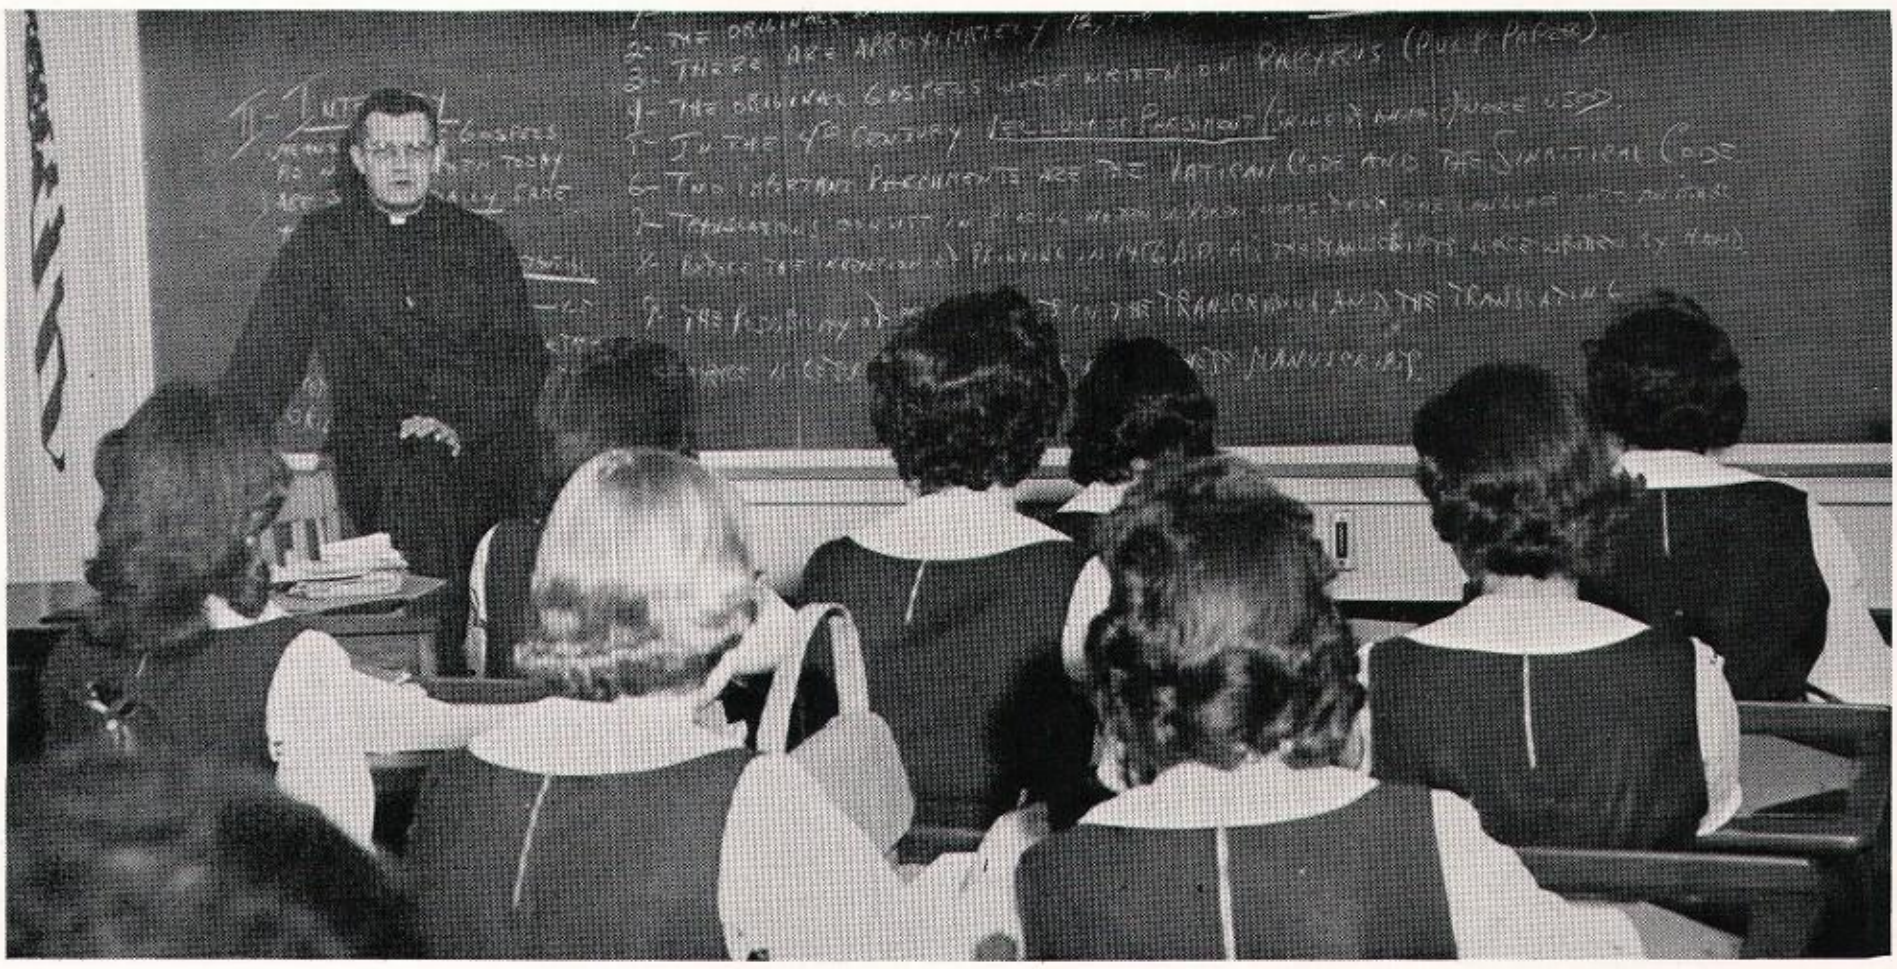
RELIGION

Catholic Action at Central stems from the knowledge and love of God. It is in the Religion class, the core of the Catholic Educational system, that students learn to apply His Divine truth, justice and order to human affairs.

Our four-year journey begins with a thorough study of the life of Christ. Having followed the Lord from Bethlehem to Jerusalem sophomores visualize the past experiences of the Church in their coverage of Church History. Coming to the realization that not those who say, "Lord, Lord," will enter into the Kingdom of Heaven, juniors re-examine the Ten Commandments. Finally seniors learn systematic argumentative tactics in defending their faith in apologetics classes.

On graduation day we assume our places in society well prepared because we have received a complete education.

Father Bednarik explains to his religion class original methods of recording and transcribing the four Gospels.



ENGLISH

Pens flew across paper as Central quill-drivers scribbled ideas for the National Anthology of High School Poetry. Twenty-six future "Bards of Avon" had their award-winning poems printed in the Anthology's annual publication.

"How the Catholic Press Helps Me in My Studies" was the topic of the essay contest sponsored by the CATHOLIC PRESS ASSOCIATION. This project stimulated increased interest in Catholic publications.

A new dictionary cart and the introduction of speech records indicate progress in the vernacular for English students. Sophomore thespians entered the grease paint world with their interpretation of Shakespeare's "Merchant of Venice."

Arlene Sablowski and Joan Feinour competed in a similar French tournament, April 26. Both examinations were held in cooperation with the Department of Foreign Languages of Temple University.

The Auxilium Latinum contest was held in March. Students achieving a 90 per cent average received certificates.

French thespians, under the direction of Sister Carletta, entertained the student body with a Nativity operetta on December 12. Erika Schulze and Sue Horrigan played lead roles.

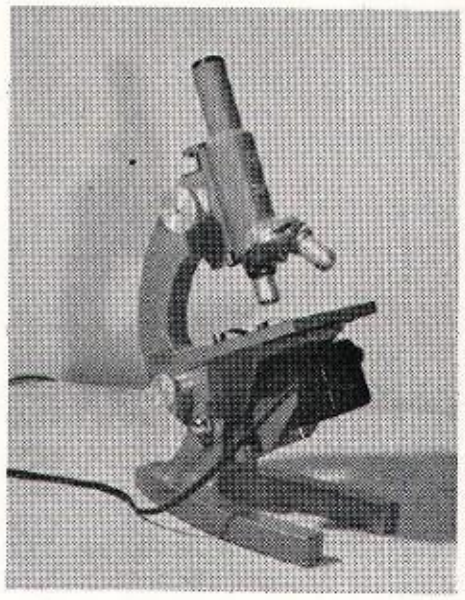
MATHEMATICS



With an eye toward satisfying the growing demand for scientists, the Science Department boasts a Geiger counter, a micro-projector, and a vinyl plastic "man" with movable parts, useful additions acquired this year.

As the scientific demand increases, so also does the number of students grow who pursue Central's science schedule. A new arrival on the academic curricula, the General Science course offered a challenge to enthusiastic freshmen.

The Junior Chemists' Club, under the sponsorship of the Reading Chemists' Club, met monthly to tour local industries. Glidden Paints and Wyomissing Glazed Paper Industries are a few of the plants visited.

Climaxing the year, 123 Centralites participated in the annual Reading-Berks Science Fair held at Albright College, April 16, 17 and 18.

HEALTH

Fifty-four senior girls, anticipating professional careers, took advantage of the opportunity to acquire a basic medical knowledge through Central's pre-professional course. These classes, held twice weekly on Tuesday and Wednesday afternoons, are restricted to highest average students and cover most of the major fields of medicine.

Talks on orientation in surgery, the eye, x-ray, physiotherapy and dentistry were presented by some of Reading's most prominent doctors. Lecturers used visual aids in almost all classes. The procedure for taking blood pressures and for administering injections were covered.

With the death of Doctor Ralph Mulligan, Doctor Barra, Chief of Allergy at St. Joseph's Hospital, took over and arranged the complete program for the girls.

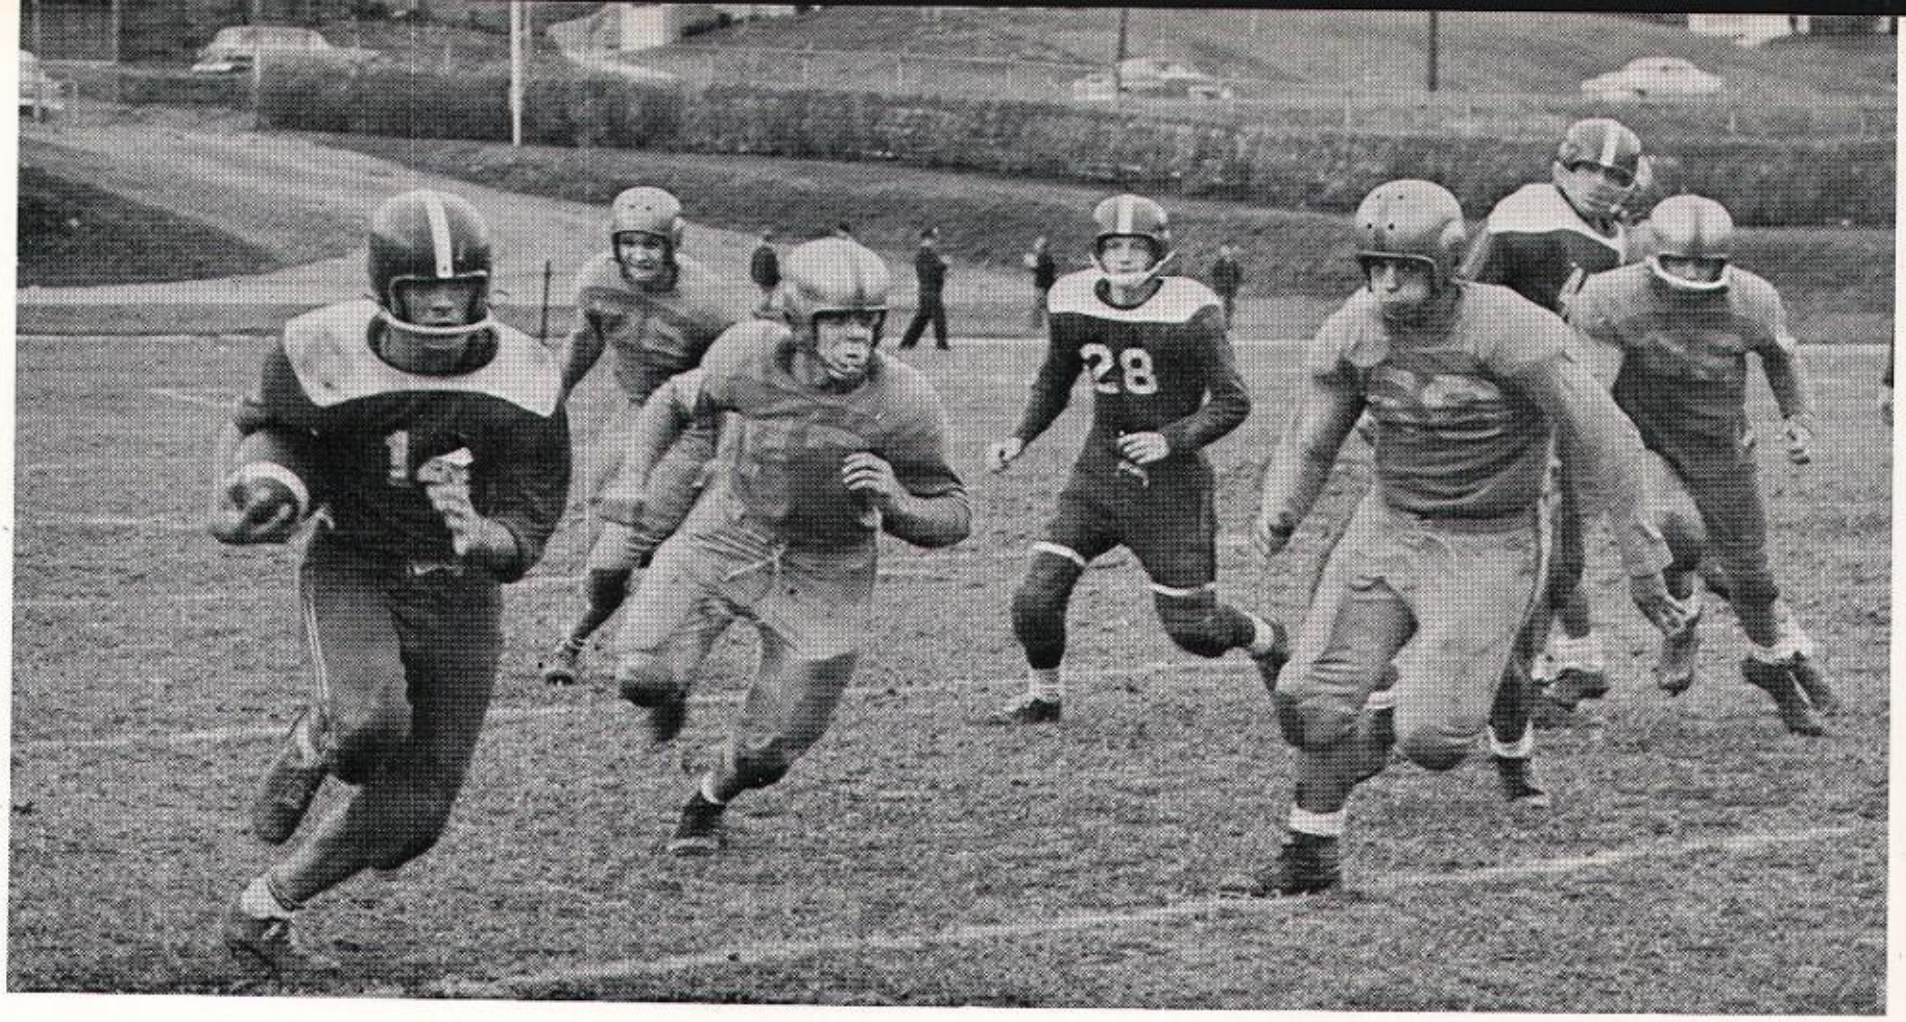
Drive away the foxes for us

Because love urged me on my way
I gave that mad, blind wreckless leap
That soared me up so high and steep
That in the end I seized my prey.
—ST. JOHN OF THE CROSS

Wolf, bear, and boar infested the Pyrenees before the time of Bernadette Soubiroux. The Rock of Massabielle, dreaded haunt of cubs, held the black magic of mystery for the peasants of Lourdes until Our Lady came and flooded the place with her loveliness.

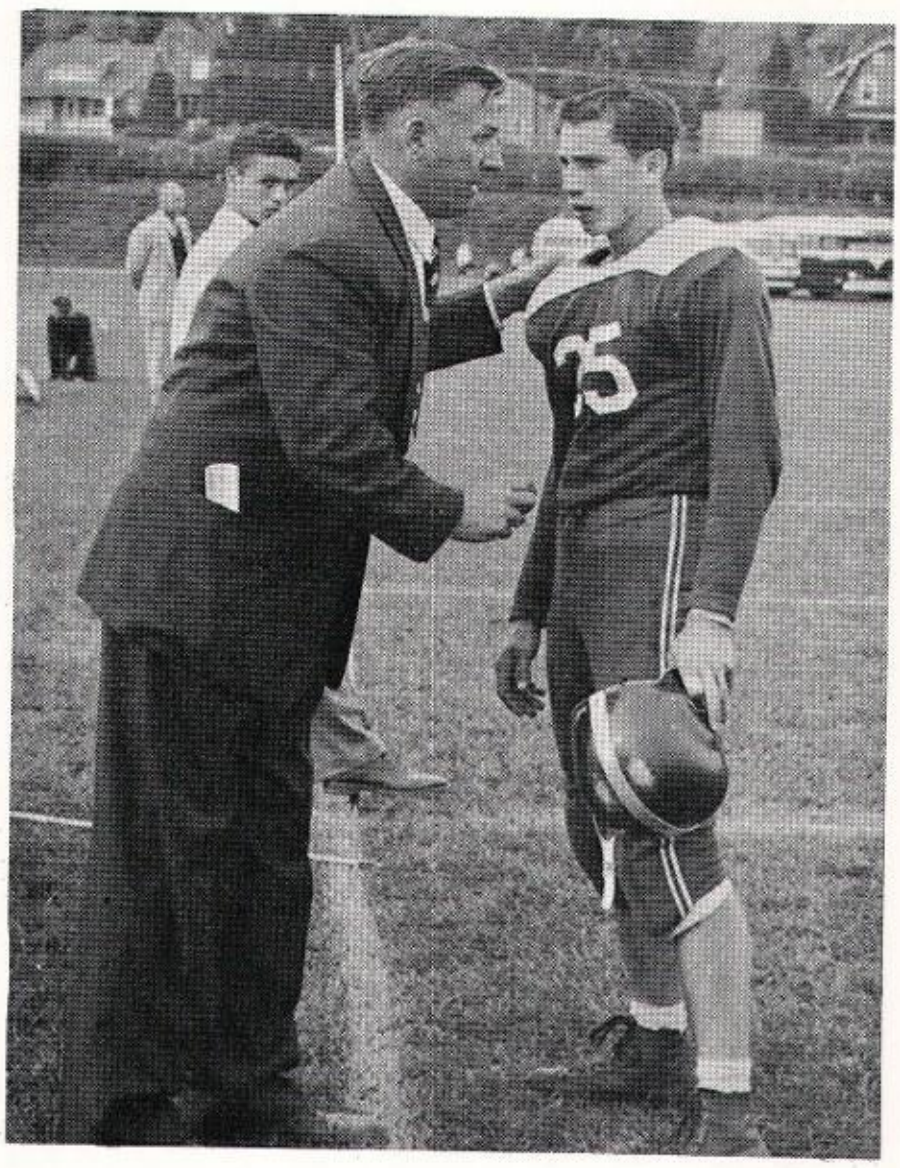
By the light of her grace we have learned the tactics by which we can trap the little foxes—personal drives that keep us fettered, little hatreds, forbidden loves —that have denned in the grottos of our hearts. Sports were symbolic of this glorious fight—a subduing of the enemy within.

Vigorous wrestling set us free, unlocked new strength with which we can crush that false freedom, those naturalistic tendencies, which have smothered the lives of nations too weak to struggle.



Card's J. Miller displays poised reserve during Allentown wager.

Head mentor Steve Hydock briefs reservist
M. Jurasinski on looming play.



In retrospect, the over-all log of three wins and five grid setbacks for this '57 canto exemplifies one of the Card's occasional lean years.

Rugged pre-season drills in the dye works of the St. Lawrence tilt-yard molded the Cardinal ranks into a potential power. Under the astute pedagogist Steve Hydock, blood, sweat, and cheers materialized into an early taste of victory as the Cards returned with the booty from their first two outings.

However, gloom prevailed as the light of victory shone only once more through the remaining season.

Efforts afforded throughout the season provided little tangible evidence of success, but to the players who sacrificed their time and effort, it was an inalienable experience.

Jack Mancuso, Captain

With austere determination, Cardinal ballcarrier J. Wandzilak darts behind interference in drive for yardage against Cardinal Dougherty.

An abrupt pause—and D. Stumhofer finds himself supporting brunt of an Allentown problem as elusion fails.

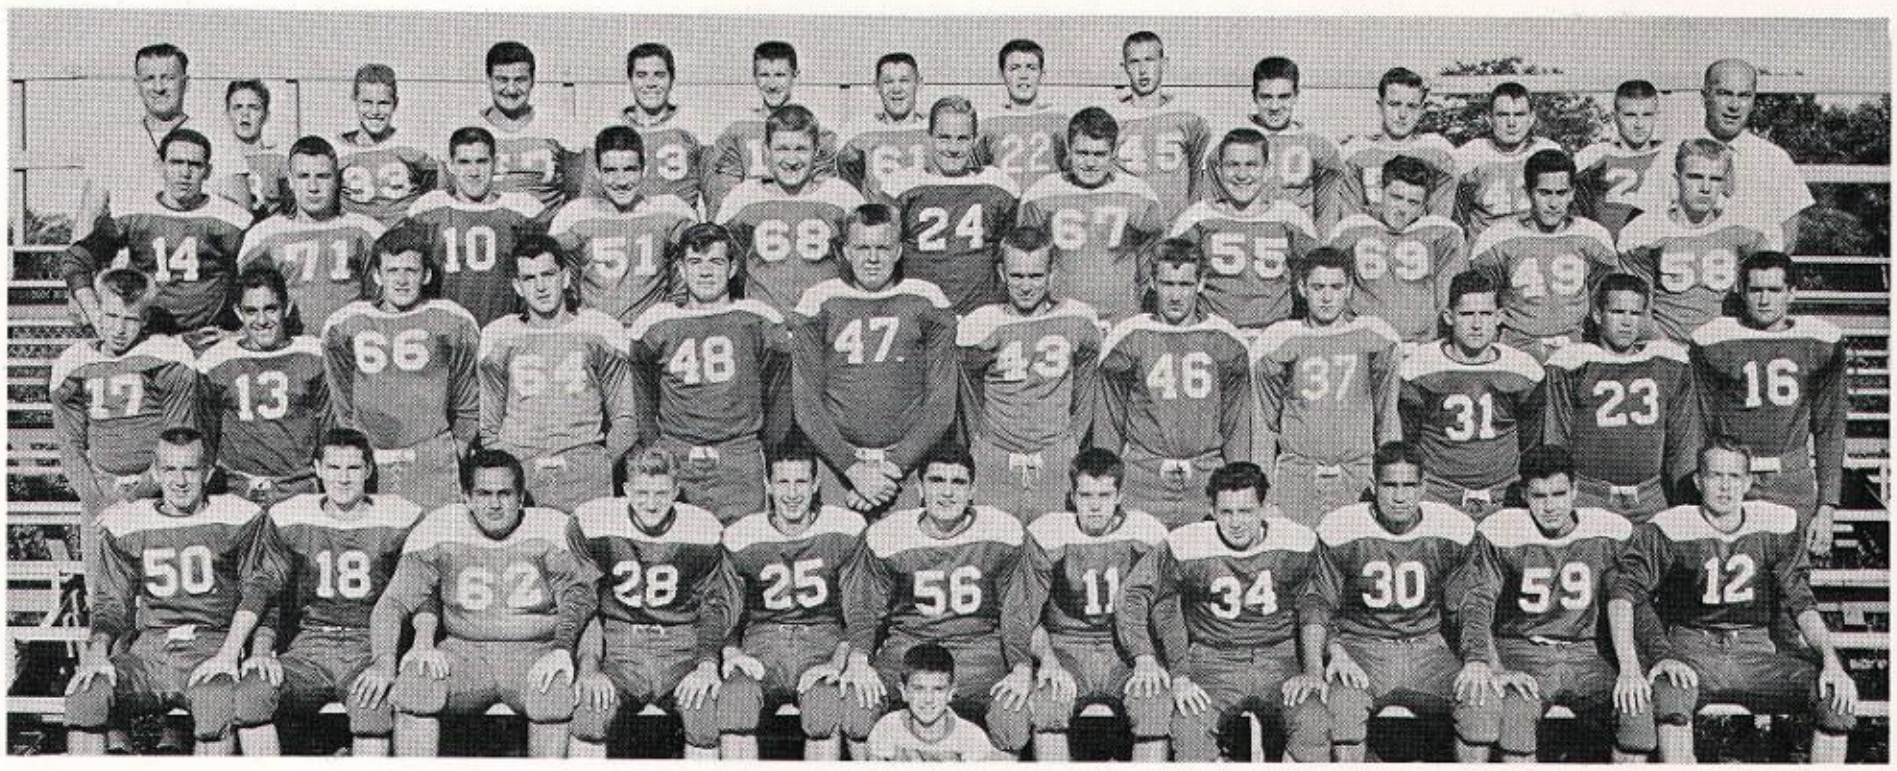
CENTRAL—CARDINAL DOUGHERTY

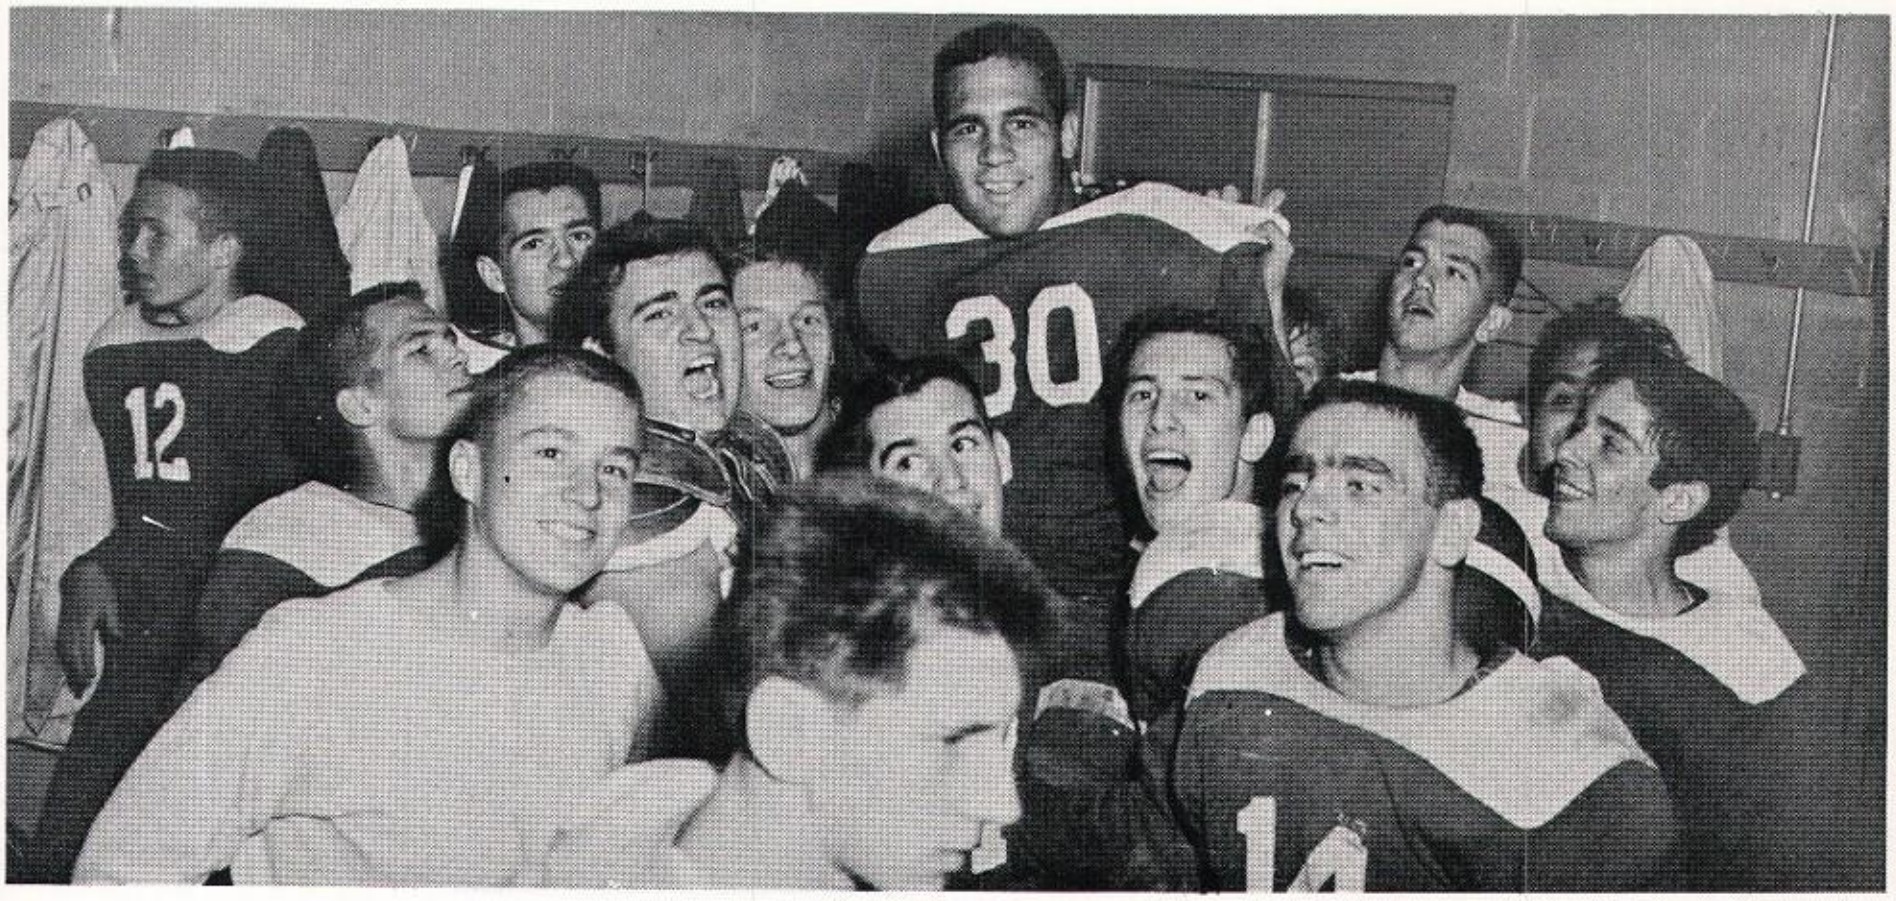
The Cards found relatively little difficulty in copping their grid opener against a greener Cardinal Dougherty opponent. Central tallied in both the first and second stanzas through the combined efforts of Frank Carabello, Joe Miller, and Chris Donaldson; but was held scoreless in the remaining frames while the Dougherty eleven made good an intercepted pass for their only score.

CENTRAL—BISHOP KENRICK

With one victory under toe the Cards played host to a shifty foe in the Kenrick Bishops on a sweltering Sunday afternoon. A capacity crowd saw Frank Carabello tally twice in the second period, with Ron Stanislaw adding the P. A. T. on one occasion. Kenrick's elusive Fred Matozza intercepted a Cardinal aerial and scampered 40 yards for the Bishops' lone touchdown.

FIRST ROW: D. Stumhofer, W. Lucas, S. Evanna, B. Killinger, M. Jurasinski, E. Alfiero, J. Wandzilak, L. Nave, F. Carabello, J. Mancuso, C. Donaldson. SECOND ROW: J. Knowles, S. Napoli, J. Doyle, J. Pouleson, M. Reusing, A. Hennessey, J. Shirk, W. Blekicki, W. Garvie, R. Druzba, R. Stanislaw, K. Braun. THIRD ROW: J. Miller, J. Stengle, J. Borst, G. Young, T. Kopel, B. Adams, N. Adam, T. Anker, J. Flannery, C. Wenrich, W. Weber. FOURTH ROW: Coach Steve Hydock, V. McLaughlin, J. McDermott, V. Bruno, P. Fox, D. Becker, J. Ciesielski, R. Duchynski, V. Eckel, R. Williams, G. Cassidy, N. McLaughlin, M. Purznik, Coach Andy Hydock. Mascot "Little Steve" Hydock.





Exultation! Jubilant teammates raise F. Carabello high in toast to victory.

CENTRAL—SALESIANUM

The Cards suffered their initial setback of the campaign at the hands of a potent Salesianum squad. The Sallies capitalized on a Central fumble in the first quarter to post an early edge. The winners picked up a single touchdown in the third period and tallied twice in the second through the fine engineering of their quarterback. Central failed to mount a single scoring threat throughout the entire afternoon.

CENTRAL—NATIVITY

The Red Birds displayed difficulty in starting as the Nativity Minors nursed a six-point margin until the fourth canto when Frank Carabello rammed over for the equalizer. The contest, however, ended in a stalemate when Central failed to materialize two conversion attempts.

An elusive and determined Kenrick back wards off Cardinal assailant B. Killinger in sweep around end.

CENTRAL—ST. MATTHEW

The Cardinals returned home to play host to St. Matthew of Conshohocken and, to their dismay, the Mirrors reciprocated with a 13-7 Cardinal setback. The robbery of two Card aerials set up both of the Mirrors' scoring plays, while Ron Druzba remained the lone Cardinal to cross the final wide stripe.

CENTRAL—YORK

Central traveled to York to vie with the Fighting Irish in a traditional meeting, and were received graciously to the score of 26-13. The York Parochials compiled a 12-6 pad after two frames with the Cards, returning a 13-12 margin. The Irish, however, scored twice in the remaining quarters to clinch a victory. Joe Miller led the Cardinal chargers and tallied both scores.

Head tucked and legs churning, insurance man F. Carabello bulls way through dispersed foes to capture needed Kenrick ground.

CENTRAL—ALLENTOWN

The Central eleven put themselves back on an even 3-3-1 keel by edging the Vikings to a 7-6 win. The Lehigh Valley crew jumped into a 6-0 advantage in the early moments of the game, scoring on a 38-yard pass play. Late in the same period Joe Miller moved the ball 35 yards to the Allentown three-yard line. Frank Carabello plunged over for the equalizer, and Ron Stanislaw's placement kick sealed the victory.

CENTRAL—LANCASTER

Rounding out their grid agenda the Cardinals encountered a well-balanced Lancaster Catholic team on the opponent's battle ground. The Crusaders, aided by long gains, tallied twice; while a fatal misdemeanor on the part of the Red Birds nullified their only score.

Contrasting expressions of team and trainer Mr. J. Donaldson convey varied sentiments in aftermath of victory.

Quarterback C. Donaldson attentively awaits pre-game toss of coin.

Soaring atop diminutive opponents, Cardinal M. Yachnick capitalizes on a simple tap.

Pitted against their perennial grinding agenda, the Cardinal courtmen managed to muster only five wins in 26 outings, thereby encountering their worst season in over a decade. A spark of brilliance, however, was displayed in decisive victories over York Parochial, Lebanon Public, Pottstown Parochial, Conshohocken Parochial, and Lancaster Parochial foes.

The Red Birds inaugurated the '57-'58 hoop campaign by drowning York Catholic, 54-45, on the Cardinal's hardwood. In out-battling the Yorkmen, three Cardinals registered in double figures.

Their meeting with a stout Lebanon Public opponent provided the Central crew with the second win in three engagements. Possession ball mastery accounted for the margin in this 45-42 contest.

Ten games elapsed before the Cardinals again tasted victory against a comparatively feeble St. Pius X opposition. The victors tallied 64 markers in opposition to an insufficient 45 by the visitors.

The Red Birds collected their fourth triumph when they encountered the Mirrors of Conshohocken. With the completion of this wager, St. Matthew's awoke to find themselves victims of a 62-35 romp.

For their concluding victory the hoopsters displayed the seemingly dead Central spirit in scrapping their way to a 48-44 decision. Although despair predominated the basketball scene, a glint of prospective success served as a rewarding consolation for Central partisans.

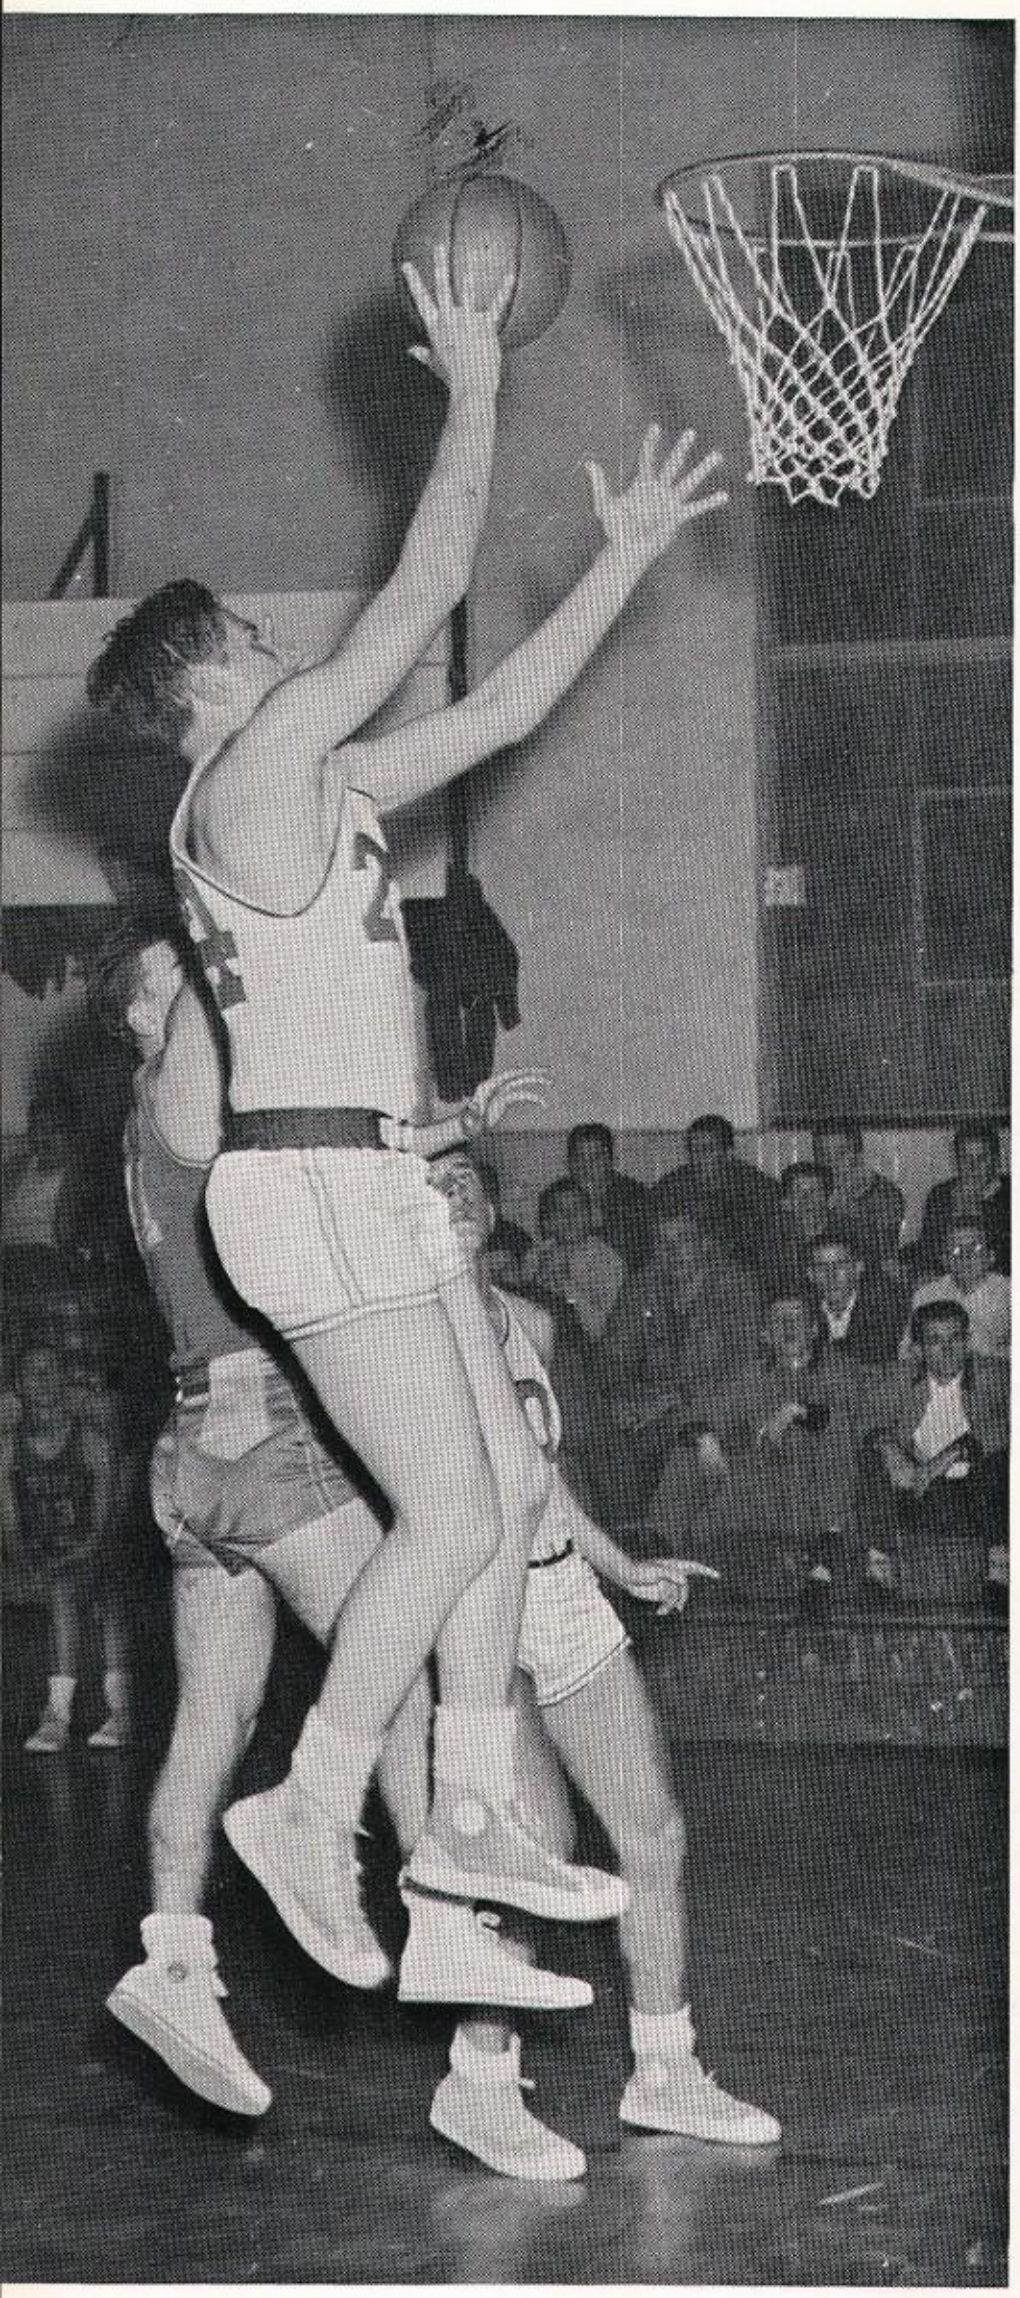
A vain attempt to thwart the score of Card F. Ruch provides the Birds with a bonus toss.

Haste makes chaos as Red Birds F. Ruch and M. Yachnich gaze petrified at the roving sphere.



M. Yachnick lays up an easy two-pointer to reap the fruits of fast-break labor.

A shower of consecutive defeats during an unfruitful season dampened the expectations of devout Central followers. Hope abounded with the initiation of the new campaign following an auspicious debut and strong start. However, the team suffered the loss of two starters among others which impaired continuing success. Following this incident burdens caused by vacant positions were placed in the hands of an inexperienced few.

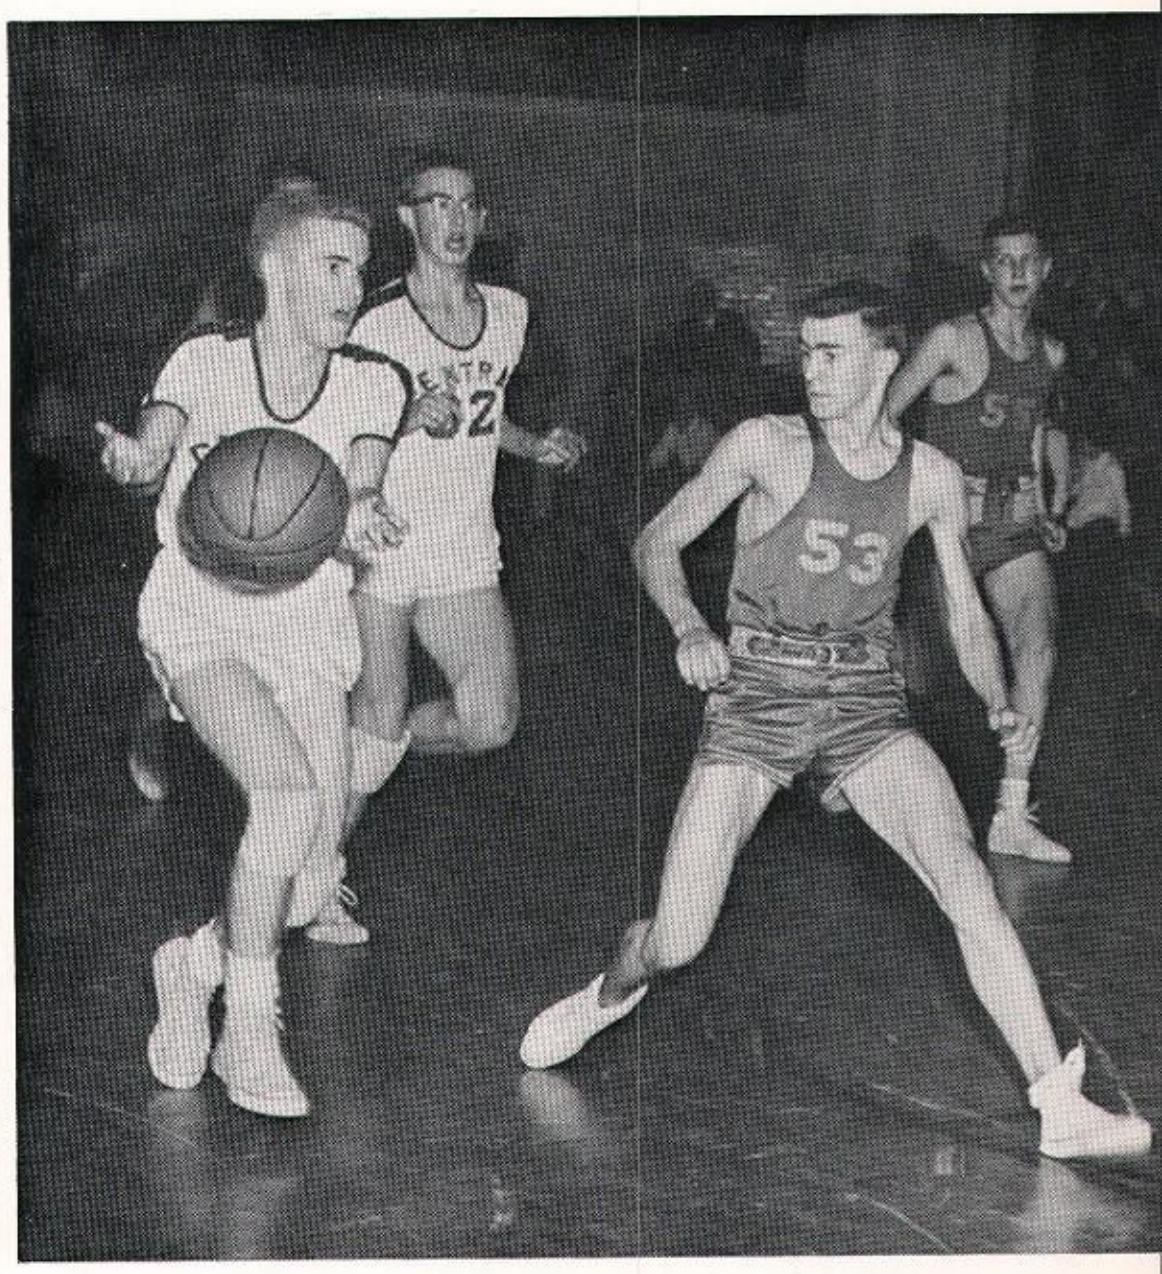
The novices, however, did not prove satisfactory when a record number of setbacks resulted from the failure to jell a working combination. As the number of losses mounted, the Cards established an all-time nadir. A dearth of material and a rugged schedule accounted for this string of defeats.

Success could not be measured in immediate gains but in the future development of prospective starters. For some, the mere hope of future success has revitalized a dying Cardinal spirit and has encouraged the efforts of the determined.

The stealth of sophomore B. Adam's illusive fake paves way for tally during St. Pius action.

In the midst of rugged competition, the baby Cards enjoyed a commendable 17-7 log. Coach Father Dickert was forced to use many combinations as several of his starters were shuttled to the Varsity in a vain attempt to bolster its attack. A fine crop of freshman saw three from its ranks on the starting five—Larry Thren, Vince Eckel, and Mark Stefanyshyn, who camped with the Varsity in the last half of the season. The scoring honors went to John Magee, with a total of 283 points for the season.

The only team to down the cards twice were the Bishop Kenrick yearlings in two close, hard-fought contests. Much to the elation of all, the Cardinal fledglings turned out a few surprising upsets. In the ninth contest of the season the Cards romped the powerful Bethlehem Jayvees. Two games later they eked out a one point victory over the previously undefeated Easton quintet. The baby Cards did more than win games in their own class; they produced ball players, five in all, who played outstanding varsity ball in the midst of bitter defeat and humiliation.



The prowess with which J. Magee snares a pass and feints facilitated his Jayvee scoring honors.

Cardinalette J. McGettigan reaches high in faltering attempt to check opposition's score.

After the loss of three varsity players this season, Miss Virginia Illuzzi was faced with the tedious task of molding a winning combination. The fast break and defensive basketball, employed to their fullest advantage, proved to be the outstanding factors which spelled victory for the Court Queens. In the opener with Tamaqua the team emerged victorious and paved the way to their thirteenth winning season, defying the traditionally unlucky number.

The sextet met Lebanon, their arch rivals, and squeezed through to a 48-47 victory. The basketeers continued their winning ways against Wilson, Pottstown, and Lancaster. Included in this streak was a breathtaking tally of 44-43 in which the queens downed a formidable Brandywine Heights opponent.

All good things must, however, come to an end, and their second encounter with Brandywine halted a seven game winning streak. The Cardettes sought to avenge the defeat and brushed aside their following two opponents, but fell victim to Bishop Kenrick, 24-29. The lassies reached their peak after defeating Lebanon, 31-30.

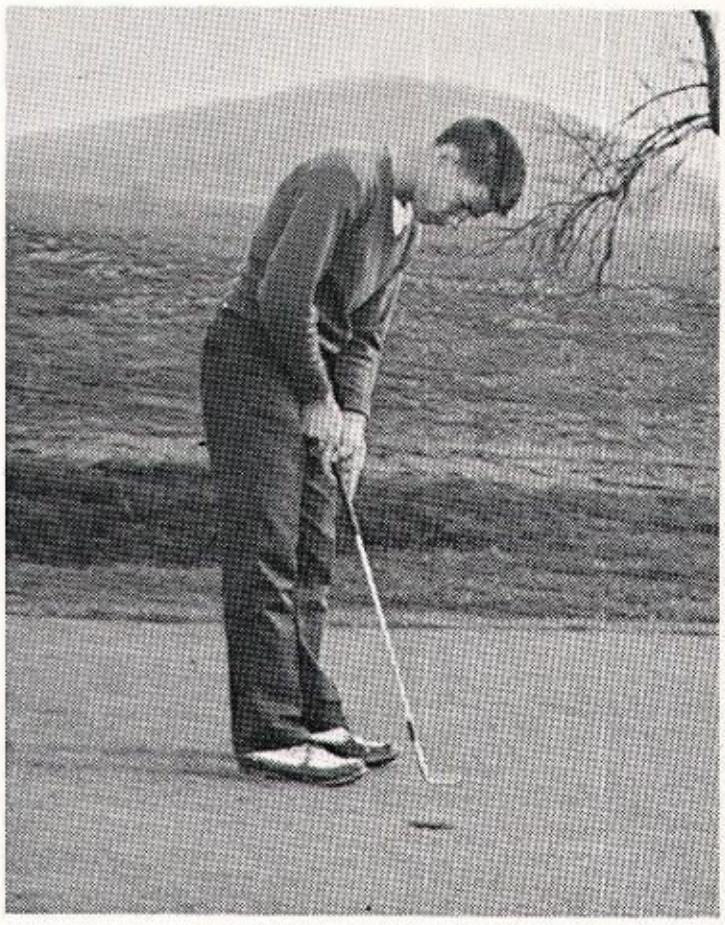
Green Pastures

With their initial season behind them and five returning lettermen, Coach Father Dickert and team are looking forward optimistically toward an undefeated season. This year's squad is going with senior linkmen R. Kelly, D. Seiders, D. Speece, A. Yoder, and juniors C. Meter and J. Sylvester.

The mature products of a 6-1 log are relying on their balanced depth to compete against an expanded and rugged schedule. The lone defeat of their prior season was an 8-7 setback at the hands of Reading High during scrimmage competition.

Despite the graduation of four key clubmen this year, future hopes are rising strong on the development of potential frosh swings.



Senior A. Yoder breathes easily after ball disappears at destination.

Valedictorian

Top student of the Class of '58, Louise is in the limelight again; this time as valedictorian. Last winter it was the star role in "Annie Get Your Gun," and this spring, student-director of the verse speaking choir and co-director of both the orchestra and assembly band. Louise has taken lessons in dramatics for 13 years and occupies second chair in clarinet. In competition with seniors all over the nation, Louise won a full scholarship worth $6500 last March with which she hopes to finance her education at Georgetown University, Washington, D. C. Louise will work for a B.S. degree in nursing.

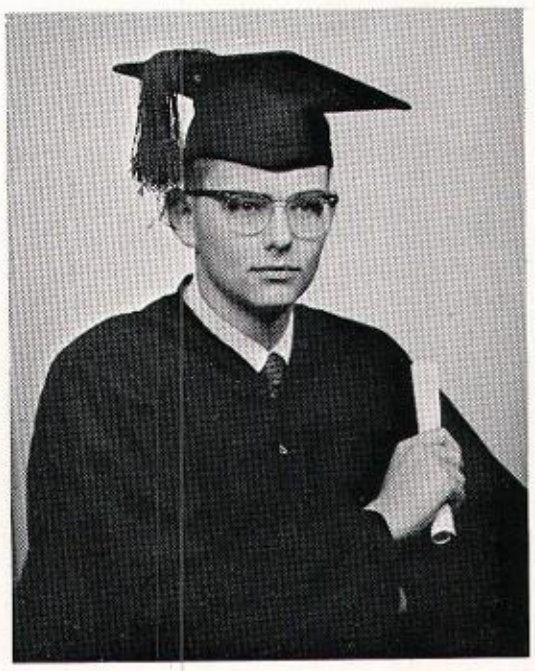
On the evening of May 20, 1955, God took Anne Marie to Heaven with Him. A car struck her at the junction of Eighth and Spring Streets, in front of her parish church of St. Joseph. Though she was at Central only a year, her warm smile and friendly personality blend fond memories in the hearts of her classmates.

ANNE MARIE GALLAGHER

DANIEL C. HARRER

Salutatorian

With sixteen first honor cards in his pocket and a second place rating on the school records, Dan finds himself responsible for the salutatory oration this June. But Dan is capable. Performing in public isn't something new to our 6′ 1″ champion. Historic Buffalo Bill lived again in his expert interpretation of the Wild West hero in the senior play. And Friday afternoons found him taping the school radio program for WRAW. Reading novels is Dan's favorite pastime, however. Our salutatorian is matriculating at St. Joseph College where he hopes to earn a coveted M.D. degree.



Junior 1—BOTTOM ROW: S. D'Amore, M. Carey, C. Bialek, A. Cataldi, P. Dengler, J. Cimochowski, G. Casantini, D. Cambria, J. Carrigan, P. Chelstowski. MIDDLE ROW: J. Conroy, P. Bogdanski, B. Ciesielski, M. Casse, J. Cichocki, M. Brown, M. Betz, R. Bukowski, P. Bomba, C. Camilli, P. Burns. TOP ROW: E. Bettler, K. Bagdon, J. Borst, J. Best, W. Blekicki, B. Conlon, R. Consentino, J. Buckley, J. Delp, R. Buck, J. Davidheiser, J. DeLuma.

Class rings arrived December 16. J. Casse receives her precious band of gold from Mrs. Martin of Martin Ring Company.

Barging in on senior activities, juniors defied the gods and came out near the top. Two attractive third year girls, Joan Venzke and Christine High, competed with other teen-agers in the city for the Pomeroy beauty and popularity contest.

Though this privilege was usually reserved for seniors, junior Tina High came through the voting fray as Vice President of the Pomeroy's Fashion Board of Reading. Christine spent a wonderful three days in New York with Miss Be-Teena from Wilson High School, and their chaperone. Among other "must-do's" they dined at Leone's and at Copacabana and surrendered to a hair-do at Lilly Dache's. Choosing their own line of clothes at the Dress Market for Pomeroy's fashion show crossed the "t" in "delightful."

Juniors have also become eligible for Merit Scholarships. On Tuesday, April 29, 85 juniors competed with students from the United States, Canada, Hawaii, etc. The results of these tests help students to understand their present academic strengths and weaknesses, and give them information with which to plan their future.

Junior 2—BOTTOM ROW: M. Haletsky, M. Guthier, C. High, J. Hershey, J. Henry, P. Eisenhuth, D. Horrigan, J. Eckel, E. Dolan, R. Henry, H. Dusco, E. Hill. MIDDLE ROW: J. Gierschick, B. Futrick, K. In February, Kathleen Martin upset the Hillside Echoes literary contest by winning the first place mdeal for her essay "Eye Witness." The theme for the late winter issue was "Our Lady of Lourdes."

The Catholic Book Week Project on "God's Superman" found three freshmen, Helen Chomyn, Mary Ann DiCintio, and Louise Auchter, among the eight finalists. They outwitted 940 students on a fifty-item questionnaire a few days before.

Freshmen also invaded the Forensic Union. Among the best was John Leitham, who received two A ratings and one B in extemporaneous speaking during the Monsignor Wachter tournament held here on March 8.

Two hundred thirty-seven freshmen jumped into the ring of Central's activity program on September 4, fought for recognition, and won.

Ann Leddy collected $302 in the annual Curtis Magazine Drive and captured the first prize, a red clock radio. Placing third with $261.50 was Agnes James who became one grey table radio and one traveling clock richer.

Stay thee, dead northwind

Come southwind that awakenest love;
Breathes through my garden and lets its odors flow . . .
While mid the flowers and rose trees
The ambar sends forth perfume . . .

—ST. JOHN OF THE CROSS

Young love's glowing warmth kept the northwind of pride, ambition, and jealousy from blowing coldly over the springtime of our lives. Dances, the class play, Youth Day, the musicale, May Crowning—all furnished pleasant balmy avenues up which we could stroll to study each others attitudes, ideals, and whimsies.

Through checkered shade we helped each other on to social maturity. Many friends were stored away in the ambars of our hearts. There we tried to merge deep, active love of God with love of our neighbor. And we hope that when the fragrance of these young romantic emotions grows richer, Our Lady will show us how to embrace the whole world in universal charity.

Last year's royalty T. Twardowski and J. Litwin crown this year's king and queen W. Garvie and P. Eisenhuth.

Rustling gowns and radiant faces heralded the arrival of the evening of January 24 and the "Snowflake Sonata". Beneath a myriad of sparkling snowflakes and multi-colored balloons a record-breaking 111 couples danced away the hours from 9 to 12 o'clock to the strains of Wally Spotts' Orchestra. Gold and white decorations completed this elegant scene.

On the stroke of 10:30 P. M. the magic moment arrived when Thomas Twardowski and Judith Litwin, last year's royalty, crowned William Garvie and Pauline Eisenhuth king and queen.

Co-chairmen Joan Krupa and James Davidheiser headed the committee brigades and organized the annual episode at the Berkshire Hotel. In charge of decorations were Susan Vass and Barbara Smith, while Frank Ruch, Patricia Dengler, and William Shaner ably attended to refreshments. Handling publicity were William Garvie, George Young, Marilyn Brown, and Joan Venzke.

Many snowfalls will have passed before the Class of '59 will forget the fun and excitement enjoyed on that night of all nights.

Snowflake Sonata

Chaperones for the evening were Mrs. J. LaManna, Mrs. S. Hydock, Mrs. A. Zitter, Mr. J. LaManna, Mr. J. Field, Mr. S. Hydock, Father Leichner, and Mr. A. Zitter.

Father Leichner awards door prizes to winners J. Nelabovige, L. Gring, V. Greth, and J. Schlachter.

Past and present royalty J. Litwin, T. Twardowski, P. Eisenhuth, and W. Garvie open the Multiplication Dance.

We danced away the hours to the music of Wally Spotts' Orchestra.

Intermission

Memories are made of this. Couples enjoy the dreamy atmosphere of their Snowflake Sonata.

Leading lady Annie Oakley (L. Schnepf) displays her shiny new rifle to co-star Frank Butler (J. Hartgen).

Annie Get Your Gun

For the first time in nine years, amateur thespians of the senior class presented a play in which the buds of work and talent blossomed into a successful production entitled "Annie Get Your Gun." The dramatization was staged in St. Margaret's auditorium on the 13th, 14th, and 16th of February. Heavy snow prompted the postponement of the third presentation from the fifteenth to the sixteenth of February. However, the effects of the storm were felt in the afermath as the attendance was held to a minimum. Among those missing was the staff photographer in whose absence an amateur photographer caught the miniature scenes of drama shown here.

"Ugh! Me scalpum," delights chief Sitting Bull (M. Hipp) while Charlie (D. Hassenbein) supports a terrified Dolly Tate (C. Garvie).

Right in style! Clad in their meager sack dresses Jessie (M. Enzman) and Minnie (M. Kelly) discuss quail hunting with Little Jake (B. Faust).

Assembled for the Grand Finale, the French Department brings its Christmas program to a dramatic end.

Weary from their journey Mary and Joseph, portrayed by E. Schultz and D. Horrigan, ask innkeeper M. Katrinak if there is any room for them in the inn.

Those are L. Luskie's pansy eyes. She stole the show with her portrayal of Little Mary in the Temple.

Tribute to Mary

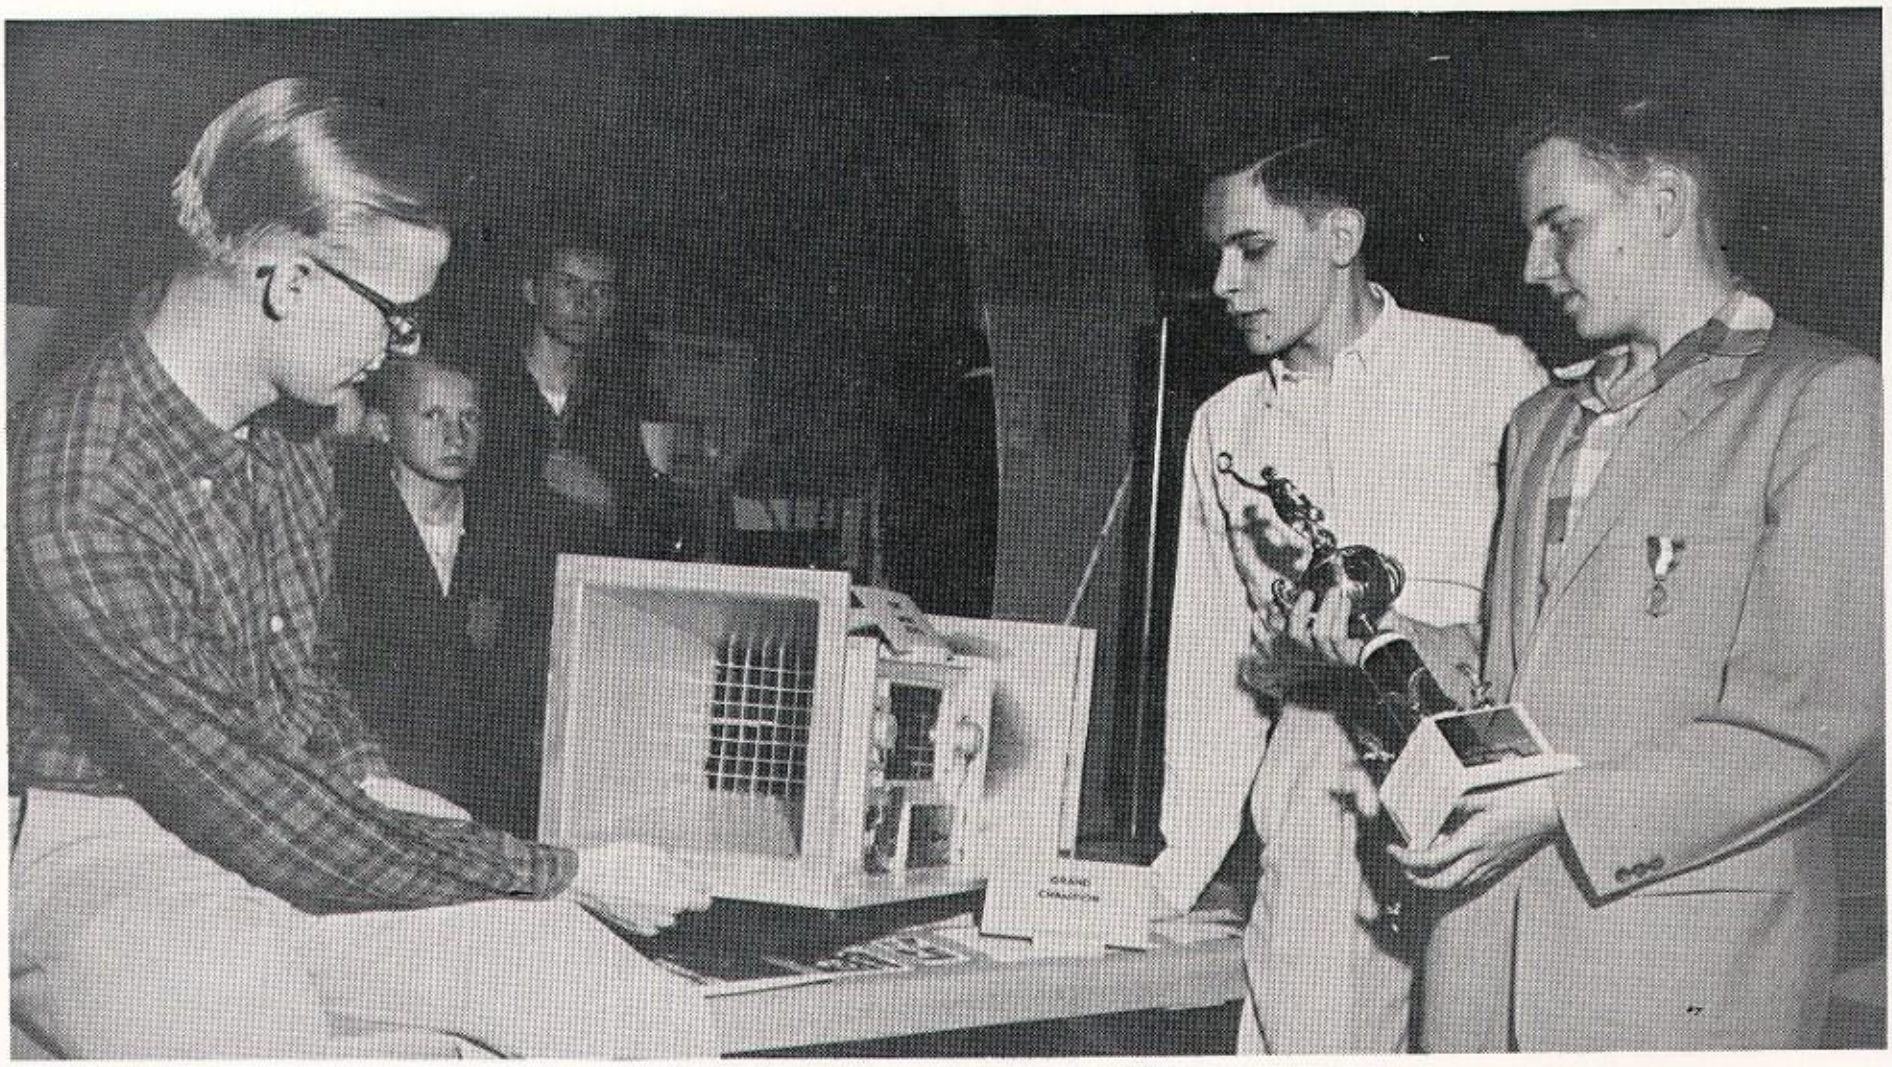
Members of the Ave Maria Club, under the direction of Sister M. Carletta, worked diligently to prepare a "Tribute to Mary," presented to freshmen and sophomores on February 27 and to the juniors and seniors on February 28. The excellent cast included:

Narrator ..... PATRICIA HARTGEN
Blessed Lady ..... SUSAN WERTHMAN
St. Elizabeth ..... JOANNE SPEECE
Lucy ..... ROBERTA WENRICH
Francis ..... PHILIP FIERRO
Jacinta ..... LINDA LUKSIE
Little Mary ..... KATHY BONK
Gabrielle ..... DOLORES BUTTE
Angels ..... SHEILA FINN, MARY LYNN ALLISON
Student ..... CHRISTINA KOCH
Accompanists ..... THERESA HEHN, PATRICIA LYSZECK

On their knees S. Wenrich, L. Luksie, and A. Marella pray the rosary with S. Werthman in the portrayal of the Fatima Vision.

Pianists B. Smith and M. Casse tune-up, while stage manager R. Migliore tests light bulbs.

In pantomime, Our Lady of Lourdes (S. Werthman) tells Bernadette Soubirous (Anna Marko) to return in ten days to the grotto.



T. Fleckenstein and D. Hassenbein congratulate Reading High grand champion Kerry Weinhold for his scientifically-based low cost wind tunnel.

A. Leddy makes a last-minute adjustment on her illustration of the solar-heated house of the future.

Studnicks

Albright College Physical Education Building housed the 1958 Science Fair. Several hundred Berks County high school students participated in this annual display of scientific knowledge. A number of Centralites merited top awards and honorable mentions.

In the chemistry division Leo Ganster ranked highest for his "Cotrell Precipitator." This device aids in ridding our large industrial cities of the hazard of smog.

Honorable mention ribbons decorated Christine High's "Classification of Soaps" and Theresa Hehn's "Complex Ion Formation", both under the chemistry heading.

The Conservation and Earth Sciences division found Dolores Napiecek capturing first place with her demonstration of the "Four Phases of the Moon."

Patricia Chelstowski merited third place in the division for her presentation "The Planets and Their Orbits."

Gerard Aschenbrenner rated an honorable mention for his geological display of the "Formation of Valleys."

Applied scientists Mary Hannahoe and Margaret Martin achieved honorable mention for their. "Hydroelectric Power Plant" and "Cooking with Glycerine".

Two General Science Students received honors for their first attempts. Patricia Bausman's "Rocket Propulsion" and Ann Leddy's "Solar Heating" captured the awards for their futuristic ideas.

J. Yahner demonstrates the interesting growth processes of a simple Lima bean.

D. Napiecek, first prize winner, scrutinizes her moon-phase exhibit.

"All questions answered?" queries M. Hannahoe as M. McQuillen puts her to a test about her model of modern hydro-electric facilities.

Transistor hi-fi by A. Sallett sounds pretty good as he spins another platter.

Chief of Police Bernard Richards tutors D. Harrer as Berks County students take over the city.

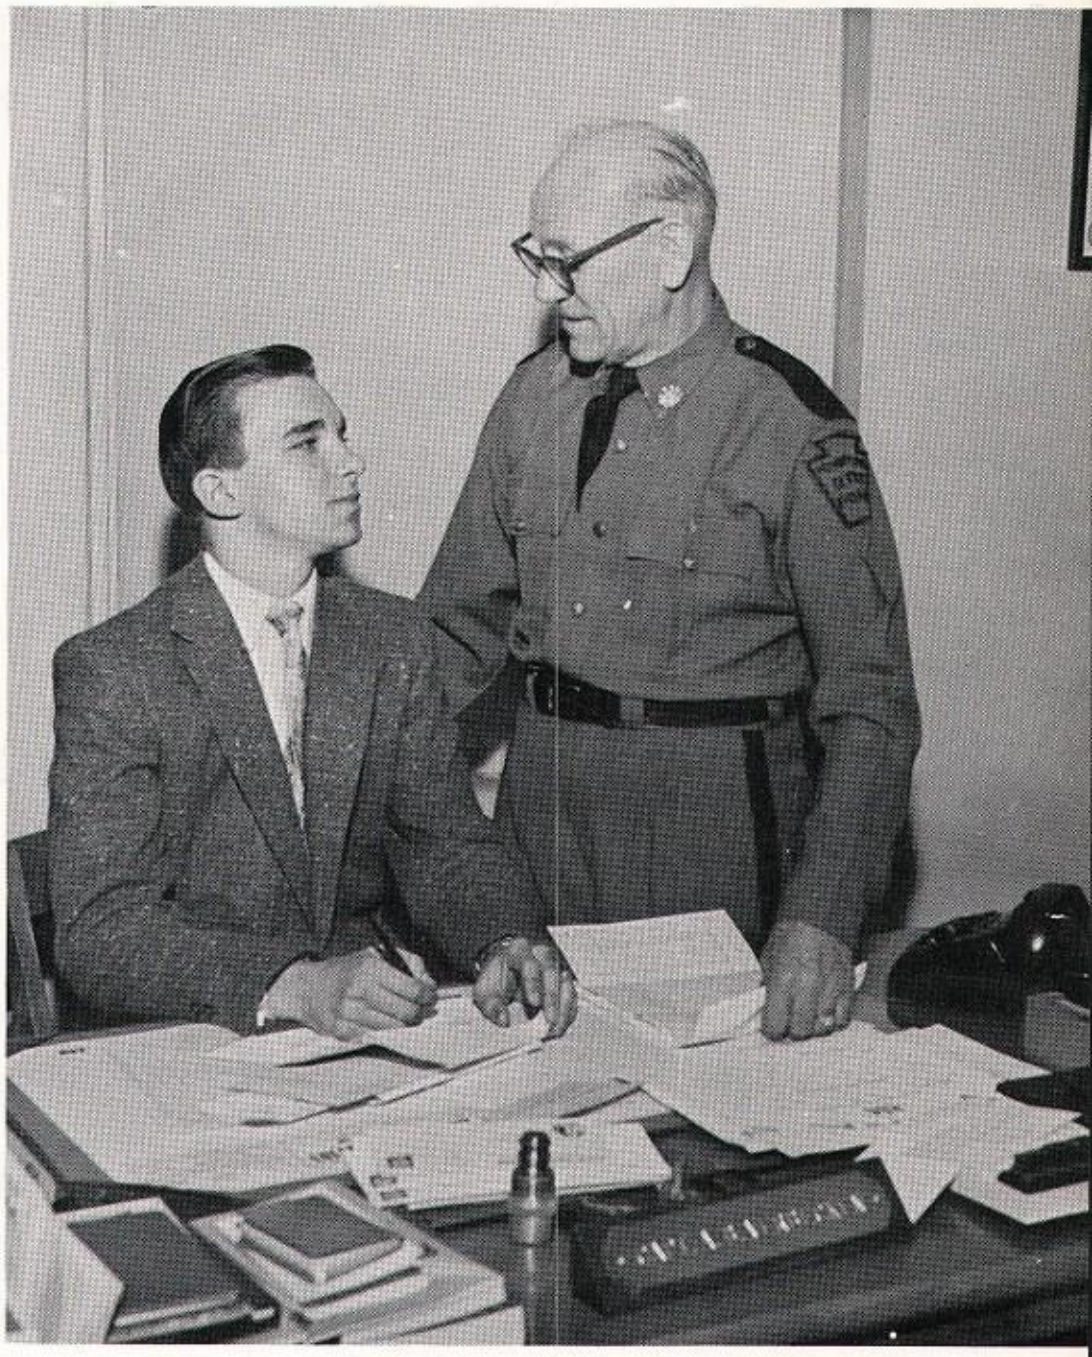
Looking over the plans for Central's new convent is M. Jurasinski, City Building Inspector pro tem.

Just for a Day

As part of Youth Day procedures, T. Twardowski reigns on Mayor Daniel McDevitt's throne during a City Council meeting.

Under the experienced eye of Assistant Fire Chief Russell P. Mogel, J. Cesarz studies the operation of a siren.

Temporary Principal of Central Catholic, F. Pazik makes for the P. A. S. to announce newly-elected officers of the class of '59.



R. Tranovich learns tricks of the trade from Mr. Alfred Verbecken, captain of troop C, State Police.

It is a happy occasion for N. Hess as she takes over the duties of Sister Genevive, supervisor of St. Catharine's Home.

May Court carry flowers of the fairest to their Queen.

Highlight of the afternoon was the coronation of Our Lady, Queen of May.

J. Essig and R. Distlehorst, members of the court, present their bouquets to Our Queen.

Thy Grotto's Splendor

One of the most festive religious ceremonies, the annual May Crowning was held on May 21. As the May Court, clad in pastel hues and carrying old-fashioned bouquets, entered the gymnasium, the student body sang Immaculate Mary, Hail Holy Queen, and Bring Flowers of the Fairest.

Mary Louise Kelly, who was chosen by her classmates to be this year's Queen, crowned the statue of the Blessed Mother with a wreath of white carnations and baby breath. Father Forst delivered the sermon.

The solemn services were brought to a close with Benediction of the Most Blessed Sacrament during which the entire assembly made the Act of Consecration and prayed the Litany of Our Lady.

Orchestra members tune up for Pizzicato Polka.

Student directors J. Burkart, C. Natoli, J. Cesarz, C. Garvie, M. Boldt, M. Schwegmann, P. Kostival, and L. Schnepf receive last-minute instructions from Father Zolondek.

Father Zolondek admires art work of C. Matijasich, J. Wagner, and J. Krupa.

In this Centennial year, Central's Music Department dedicated its annual Spring Musicale to Our Lady of Lourdes. Under the direction of Reverend John G. Zolondek, the Musicale was held May 14, 15, 16, and 18.

Band selections included Flandria Overture, Bobby Sox Suite, and American Patrol. The Bel-Tones, always a favorite, harmonized to Tumbling Tumbleweed and China Figures. Mixed Chorus concluded Part I with its rendition of Adoramus Te and Ski Song. The Senior Girls' Chorus sang Begin the Beguine, while the Boys' Chorus delivered Stouthearted Men and Blind Ploughman.

The orchestra with their selections Pizzicato Polka and Il Travatore opened Part II. The Junior Girls' Chorus followed with Catch a Falling Star and Rock-a-Bye Baby.

The Grand Finale, highlight of the Musicale, included Father Zolondek's own compositions The Bells of Our Lady, Lovely Lady Dressed in Blue, and Our Lady of Lourdes.

All This Your Grace Can Do

Now, therefore, let Your grace stream upon my head, running down my shoulders and covering me; may it re-effect all that was done in the baptismal font from which I rose new-born to You; may it run down and search out all those darksome corners, hidden, unavowed, and scarce acknowledged even to myself; may it restore to me a purity all unspotted, such a purity as marks regained childhood's clear-eyed joy.

HENRI DANIEL-ROPS

From the Editor's Pen

A last burst of staff effort sent all copy to Kutztown today —all except this page. So if I can muster enough energy to give a synoptic view of our '58 Centralma, I will do it. In some respects it's been a very short year. Time swept dizzily by as we rushed to meet one deadline after another. But it had its occasional headaches, too. Those captions and blocks of copy seemed to take forever until finally, everything fell into place.

We had an exciting time publishing Centralma and it is an experience we will remember. To please Our Lady we used the Lourdes theme, and I know she helped. The book would not have materialized otherwise. The staff tried to make our new annual not only a history of the class of '58, but also a profile of Central Catholic and how it contributes to that freedom which is rooted in religion. J. Edgar Hoover, Director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, in his "Ideals for Americans" deplores the tragedy of our generation which he said "has resulted from our spiritual shortcomings, from the disastrous moral failures of our age."

I wish to express my heartfelt thanks to—

The SENIOR STAFF for their cooperative effort in making this book a good one.

The SENIOR CLASS for their all-out campaign to obtain funds for the publishing.

FATHER LEICHNER for his interest, suggestions, and permissions.

Our advisor SISTER MARY GERARD for advice and patience.

SISTER EDNA for her constructive criticism of the art.

LOURDES

Drive away the foxes for us
For our vineyard is now in flower
While we make a bunch of roses . . .
Stay thee, dead northwind.
Come southwind that awakenest love;
Breathes through my garden and lets its odors flow . . .
While mid the flowers and rose tree
The ambar sends forth perfume.
